

THE SATURDAY CHOPS

Bacon boys are nearly bacon buttyed

B.B wolf returns in court

Yesterday at 12.00 sharp, B.B Wolf's bacon lunch was cancelled by quick escaping pigs- Porky, Chops and Roasts, also known as the Bacon Boys. The local chop cops were forced to restrain him the Wolf after he tried to escape the scene of the crime. This horrific act bears many similarities to his last attempted misdemeanour - when many innocent pig lives were lost. They knew the Wolf was on the loose somewhere in Baconville, but could we be sure what was lurking round the corner? B.B's trial was held today at roaster courts, where the helpless pigs were assured he would be no more trouble to them. On the 7th December 2009, the bacon boys left spying on them behind a tree when he pounced out at porky. Suddenly, he was running for his piggy life. He hid himself safely in his home, but not for long.

"I will huff and I'll puff and I'll blow your house down!" the Wolf demanded.

All that was left of his tiny thatched cottage was the roof that plonked to the ground. Before the wolf was aware of the damage, he was already chasing after the poor little pig. When Porky raced round the corner he saw his brother standing there looking very shocked. He got there, they slammed the door.

Quickly, they leapt under the bed. There pig tails were hanging out from under it. The Wolf repeated his catchphrase. This time all that was left was the door. Porky and his older brother Chops crouched behind the door, hoping the wolf wouldn't realize they were there. But they thought wrong, the wolf was to smart for that. He chased them until they got to a tree of apples. The wolf suddenly hit the apple tree, and so the pigs had a change to escape the danger. After the incident we spoke to Cinderella who told us how lucky chops and porky were to be alive. She then said that without roast's wonderful mansion the Bacon Boys would be dead pork! When they eventually reached safety at roasts house they slammed the door closed. They saw the Wolf on his way and so put the latch on the door. The Wolf then home to see the big wide world for themselves. Porky- the youngest of the brothers decided he would build his home out of straw from the market. Soon after, Chops built his out of sticks. Next, the oldest and most busy brother, Roast, built his from bricks. Our sources tell us Roast named his home the luxury cabin, and hopes he can get into the building industry. After the event, we interviewed the lovely Repunzal who told us that porky and chops didn't see the Wolf thought the brothers might let him in if he pretended to be a brush man, and so he did. Roast opened the door - as he was the only one of the three that wasn't hiding. It was the wolf (dressed as a brush man). "Were to smart for you B.B.!" roast apparently exclaimed to the Wolf. Again, the wolf shouted his catchphrase. He blew until his trousers fell down and he was blue in the face! Moments later the Wolf reportedly clambered to the top of the luxury cabin and got ready to jump down the chimney hole. The Bacon Boys knew he hadn't gone far so they put a boiling hot pot of water under the chimney. Seconds after, the Wolf had jumped down the hole. A burned bottom was what the wolf deserved.

B R wolf's trail in roaster courts

