Indian culture and Festivals

In the village of Chembakoli, there are lots of festivals that you and your children might like. The Adirasi people love dancing and singing at their festivals. (Also you can buy stuff like toffee biscuits.)

→ Good try, but not in their culture

traditional

In Chembakoli, the village people enjoy playing music and dancing ^(it's part of their culture). Also men play tradition hand made drums and women dance in circles to exotic rhythms that are fascinated with beautiful henna patterns. The drums are made by amazing animal skins that ^{are} fitted across the top of the drums.

Imagine your self in ^{the exotic} a exotic village.
